At first, Lt. Merriman was told that he would have to resign from the Air National Guard if he underwent the operation, since it would not be classed as service connected. This ruling came from the Surgeon General's office.

Later, after nation-wide publicity, Air Force Secretary James Douglas stated that Lt. Merriman would not be forced to resign because of this personal sacrifice, and now he will be re-examined after the operation, to de-termine whether or not he can resume flying. If his physical condition warrants, he can resume flight training, and upon completion, he will again be assigned to the Air National Guard.

Lt. Merriman, with his wife and child, lives in a trailer at Airview Trailer Court near the gate to Hondo Air Base.

Gov. Price Daniel's call also asked that the law provide (1) that state aid, accreditation, salaries, etc., not be affected by the closing, (2) that school boards may transfer local pupils and (3) that the attorney general be authorized to assist local school districts in contesting integration suits in federal Though Legislative operating funds ran out over the weekend, both House and Senate decided against a "crash" program to enact the bill overnight. Strong opposition was not foreseen, however.

Fiscal Hangover

Lawmakers who return for the next regular session in January, 1959, face a "morning after" atmosphere with a $12, 000,000 headache.

Last summer State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert predicted the state would end this twoyear period with a $6,000,000 deficit. His latest estimate doubles that figure.

Calvert revised his figures after voters this month approved a constitutional amendment upping state pension payments. Legislators already are skating on the edge of financial embarrassment in their day-to-day operation. Fund for their salaries, expenses, etc., was down to about $45,000 when the first session ended. With costs running about $11,000 a day, they were ude to start drawing this week on the governor's deficiency fund, earmarked for "calami-

But the real calamity, as many legislators see it, comes year after next when they will have to find a way to glue the "busted" budget together again. Most agree, gloomily, that it means new taxes.

No "Thrill", But Legislators' comments on the laws passed during the first special session ranged from "monstrosity" to a shoulder-shrugging "better than noth-

But they did pass - all five that the governor asked.

Spokesman for the governor admitted he wasn't exactly "thrilled" with the watereddown water bill, but that he would accept it. In a public commended the lawmakers for their accomplishments.

Briefly, the new laws fo this: 1. Set up a water planning division to do research on Texas water resources and report to each regular session. No authority to draw up a statewide plan was conferred, and the appropriation was cut from a recommended $1,200,000 to $900,000. Water Board was given authority to negotiate for state water storage in federal reservoir s- with legislative approval.

2. Require registration of those who seek to influence legislation "by direct communication" and reporting of expenditures over $50.

3. Require registration of those who, for pay, represent others before state agencies.

4. Set up a commission to study Texas law enforcement and report to the next regular session

5. Appropriate money for a building for the State Insurance Department.

What Now?

Senate rejection of the appointment of Willaim A. Harrison as insurance commissioner put that department in a quan-

Without an administrative head, the department cannot conduct even routine business: nor can it pay its employes. Members of the Insurance Board asked Atty. Gen. Will

Wilson for guidance. Under the Constitution the Senate has the authority to pass on all appointments made by the governor to constitutional offices. It does not, however, pass on the appointments of various state boards withing their departments. When the Insurance Department was re-organized last spring, the new law authorized the governor to appoint Insurance Board members and the board to appoint a commissioner. But it was specifically written into the law that the Senate would have confirmation power on the board's appointment of a commissioner.

Senate approved the governor's appointments to the board, but turned thumbs down on Harrison. A former assistant state auditor, Harrison had been serving in the $20,000-ayear post since early last sum-

Board members asked Wilson's opinion on (1) if so, what will we do until we can find a new commissioner?

"No Urgency"

Insurance Department is be ing beset by the Senate from another quarter as the investigation into a delayed report continues.

Senate committee questioned two department officials on why three months elapsed between receipt of an unfavorable report on Preferred Life of Dallas and department action on the matter.

Paul D. Connor, assistant comissioner, said he saw "no urgency" in the report since it did not involve insolvency, E. B. Kelley, chief examiner, said he didn't think there was "anything significant" about it.

Earlier, the man who made the examination said he had found evidence of illegal stock manipulation involving some $994,000.

Cotton Rained Out

Untimely rains probably have cost Texas cotton farmers some $100,000,000, says Agriculture Commissioner John White.

Rain kept harvesters out of the fields, said White, and greatly cut the quality of the cotton still on the stalks. "It's a real economic blow to many farmers who had prospects of the first good cotton crop in several years," White observ-

Since the next regular meeting date of the City Council falls on a holiday, Thanksgiving, he will not miss a council meeting.

And speaking of traveling, CURTIS (JUG) Wiemers, who is with the Sul Ross traveling football squad, was in San Antonio Thursday night. That critter was real dead, but even strung up on a street sign pole, he looked vicious. He certainly drew an audience too.

A committee of the leading business men of Hondo was in San Antonio Wednesday for the purpose of conferring with the chiefs of the Aviation Service with reference to the establishing of a small aviation field here. An aviation field would prove a great boon to Hondo just now. It would put a considerable volume of ready money in circulation here which would be a great help to all lines of business and would even increase the opportunities of the day laborer to provide sustenance for their dependent ones in these distressing times. And, again, it would put Hondo on the map. Silence the knockers. We need the aviation field and every aviator that has ever visited here pronounces this an ideal location.

THE SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING

We Have A New Mayflower But The Same Freedom

The little sailing vessel Mayflower brought the Pilgrim Fathers to Plymouth, Massachusetts, in 1620. On April 20th, 337 years later, a second Mayflower - a replica of the original ship — set sail from England on a voyage re-enacting the great adventure of the company of brave men and women who sought religious freedom in America.

In the first winter on the bleak New England coast, the Pilgrims suffered many hardships. Half of the colonists died. Yet the survivors refused to return to England. They were determined to hold on to freedom and eventually they prospered.

Captain Alan Villiers' voyage in the Mayflower Il was both a fascinating adventure and a dramatic commemoration of one of the greatest events

More than that, the voyage reminds us that today — as it was 337 years ago — America is still the land toward which thousands of people in foreign countries look with hope. Many of them dream of coming here to start a new life. Under freedom, Americans have developed not only a vast material prosperity, but wider opportunities for religious, cultural and educational pursuits. For all this, we owe much to the Mayflower Pilgrims.

"There is an old and true saying that "a friend in need is a friend indeed", and Mr. Saw's practical illustration of the fact was demonstrated in a manner that was a test which few persons have an opportunity to apply. I have always felt grateful towards him for his act of kindness and will never cease to entertain the warmest friendship for him while I live, because I know he is an honest and worthy man.

"I was under other obligations to him afterwards, and one time especially when he assisted in recovering my stage mules that were driven off by the Indians, with John Kennedy's horses from the ranch. He went with John and Ross Kennedy and their men in pursuit until they overtook them on the Rio Frio, eight miles east of Uvalde, near General Knox's ranch.

"Henry Shane is now about seventy-three years of age and he resides on his ranch five miles below Sabinal Station, on Sabinal Creek, with pleasant surroundings and in good circumstances. He is highly esteemed by all who are acquainted with his generous nature and have knowledge of his general character. He is well known throughout west Texas, where his life has been spent, and also in San Antonio, where he has many friends, and among them Col. C. C.

Gibbs is one of long standing. "His early life was spent on the frontier of Texas, where he had many experiences, and the stories he could relate about his encounters with wild Indians would be interesting; but he rarelt speaks of them, and he had one that he never talks about. It occurred in a fight when in pursuit of Indian raiders, on Sabinal Creek, after his ammunition was exhausted. When the fact was discovered he was close to an Indian who was also without ammunition, but both were equally brave, and they rushed at each other with clubbed guns. Those who witnessed the fight say that Mr. Shane was worsted in the fight by a lick on one side of his head which brought him to the ground, and he rolled down the creek bank. Other particulars are forgotten, but Mr. Shane confesses that it was the hardest fight he ever had in his life. In later years he served during the Civil war as a soldier in the Confederate Army, and in that connection he sustained his reputation for courage and fidelity to duty that distinguished his previous career as a worthy citizen on the borders of civilization, but not more honorably than he has since done in priv-

End of Chapter II Beginning VII

Captain Adolph Muenzenberger and myself established the first stage line between the United States and Mexico, in August, 1867, under the firm name of A. Santleben and Company. The corporation was organized on August 1, as a private enterprise, for the purpose of transporting passengers, and incidentally, to convey letters, money, and other packages suitable for the capacity of the stage. The institution was licensed under the general laws of the State of Texas and those of Mexico, but no subsidies were granted, and the business was conducted at the risk and expense of the company. The facts to be given will show that, throughout its continuance, the line was liberally patronized and was highly appreciated by the public because of its great convenience.

"The success of the enterprise was assured beforehand through special privleges granted by the Mexican government which would not, or could not, be allowed under existing laws. The most important of these concessions was an exemption from tariff charges on everything except money, on which a municipal duty of two per cent was collected in Monterey and an export duty of ten per cent was exacted by the customs officials at Piedras Negras. During the two years that the line was operated the contents of the coach was never investigated nor was it ever delayed on any occasion by gov-ernment officials on either side of the Rio Grande. Thomas B. McManus, who was in charge of the United States customshouse in Eagle Pass, and the Mexican customs officials in Piedras Negras, Nicholas Gresanta, and his assistant, Pedro Morales, were all my intimate friends whose personal influence and official powers were exercised in the interest of the line whenever an opportunity

Our stage as a mail carrier was guaranteed the same privileges and protection as those granted the general mail lines in Mexico; but otherwise it had no connection with the postal department, as the right to levy our own postage and collect it in advance, for the company's benefit, was conceded to us. Our company used a metal stamp that was furnished by the Mexican government, on which were the numerals "25" with the words "Republica Mexicana" in a circle around them, which the postal department used until stamps were introduced in 1870; but no ac- cal count of our mail transactions was required. The only agreement we had with the government stipulated that all letters handled by us might be weighed, and after a payment of twenty-five cents an ounce was exacted, the stamp should be applied once for each ounce. No other government stamp was placed on letters brought by us from Mexico, but it was necessary for all letters sent to the United States to carry stamps of the government, at the rate of five cents for each ounce after crossing the border. Frequently two dollars for postage was paid on one letter, and these carried eight impressions of our stamp, in addition to the United States postage, Messrs. Weber and Werich were one of several firms in Monterey who paid as much or more on letters sent through us to the United States. On many of our trips as much as fifty dollars was realized on mail matter alone, that was collected at points along the route

Freedom of the Press, Here and Now

Everywhere that a tyrant's heel has ground most brutally, there has sprung up an "underground" movement. And its heart always is a printing press. For the urge that dwells deep in a freedom-loving people to know the truth is hard to kill. In fact it cannot be killed - not even by the best-organized despotism in history.

The many stories of underground presses that have come down through the ages of trial and error by many dictators is an inspiration to the men and women of America's press.

We know that the truth can actually be printed and circulated under the very heel of a tyrant's boot. But a far better way of keeping people informed is through their own free press which operates not in some dark cellar, but on main street, right next door to the grocer, the postoffice, the drug store. * * To preserve that freedom is the first obligation of the American people and the American Press. It is our only hope of maintaining our other cherished freedoms.

SECO PHILOSOPHER JOINS

Fight Against Inflationary Spiral By Dozing In His Chair

Editor's note: The Seco Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm apparently has gotten his mind off Russian satellites and back to inflation. He's as much an authority on one as the other.

Dear editar: I found two copies of some newspapers out here yesterday afternoon alongside the road by my farm where somebody had dropped them from his car and judging by the ants in them, they'd been used to wrap up a picnic lunch, and I thought you would like to know that one of them was a copy of The Anvil Herald and the other a copy of The San Antonio Light, and I examined them both carefully and found exactly fourteen ants in each one, which proves that when it comes to being antproof, there's not much difference in newspapers.

But what interested me, after I'd shook the ants out, was an article in the big daily about two Senators on a special committee in Washington to investigate inflation. According to one of them,

Americans should be allowed to have more spending money, as he claimed the factories in this country aren't producing as much as they could and would if the people had more money to spend. The only thing is, he didn't say where this extra spending money is coming

According to the other is just the trouble, the k have too much money to sp which in turn produces tion. He said if we had money, we'd be bidding hi for more goods, which only produce more inflation Now I'm not smart en to settle this argument, would like to say that maybe this latter Senator convince his wife he has es money, I'll have toad must have a different wife. When I pointed out to that the reason I didn't nish her with more was because me and this! tor didn't want to be cont ing to the inflationary she just snorted and sa Senator could run the and she'd run her house it'd run a lot smoother had more cash. She also that she'd have more cas be if I worked harder, bu body can see the mo work the more you ma the more you spend an high cost of things, and preciate it if more round here understo What the women of t try ought to understan when a man is dozing chair he's not loafi fighting inflation. Yours faithfully, J.

A committee of the leading business men of Hondo was in San Antonio Wednesday for the purpose of conferring with the chiefs of the Aviation Service with reference to the establishing of a small aviation field here. An aviation field would prove a great boon to Hondo just now. It would put a considerable volume of ready money in circulation here which would be a great help to all lines of business and would even increase the opportunities of the day laborer to provide sustenance for their dependent ones in these distressing times. And, again, it would put Hondo on the map. Silence the knockers. We need the aviation field and every aviator that has ever visited here pronounces this an ideal location.

We Have A New Mayflower But The Same Freedom

The little sailing vessel Mayflower brought the Pilgrim Fathers to Plymouth, Massachusetts, in 1620. On April 20th, 337 years later, a second Mayflower — a replica of the original ship — set sail from England on a voyage re-enacting the great adventure of the company of brave men and women who sought religious freedom in America.

In the first winter on the bleak New England coast, the Pilgrims suffered many hardships. Half of the colonists died. Yet the survivors refused to return to England. They were determined to hold on to freedom and eventually they prospered.

Captain Alan Villiers' voyage in the Mayflower was both a fascinating adventure and a dramatic commemoration of one of the greatest events in our history.

More than that, the voyage reminds us that today — as it was 337 years ago — America is still the land toward which thousands of people in foreign countries look with hope. Many of them dream of coming here to start a new life. Under freedom, Americans have developed not only a vast material prosperity, but wider opportunities for religious, cultural and educational pursuits. For all this, we owe much to the Mayflower Pilgrims.

"There is an old and true saying that "a friend in need is a friend indeed", and Mr. Saw's practical illustration of the fact was demonstrated in a manner that was a test which few persons have an opportunity to apply. I have always felt grateful towards him for his act of kindness and will never cease to entertain the warmest friendship for him while I live, because I know he is an honest and worthy man.

"I was under other obligations to him afterwards, and one time especially when he assisted in recovering my stage mules that were driven off by the Indians, with John Kennedy's horses from the ranch. He went with John and Ross Kennedy and their men in pursuit until they overtook them on the Rio Frio, eight miles east of Uvalde, near General Knox's ranch.

"Henry Shane is now about seventy-three years of age and he resides on his ranch five miles below Sabinal Station, on Sabinal Creek, with pleasant surroundings and in good circumstances. He is highly esteemed by all who are acquainted with his generous nature and have knowledge of his general character. He is well known throughout west Texas, where his life has been spent, and also in San Antonio, where he has many friends, and among them Col. C. C. Gibbs is one of long standing.

"His early life was spent on the frontier of Texas, where he had many experiences, and the stories he could relate about his encounters with wild Indians would be interesting; but he rarelt speaks of them, and he had one that he never talks about. It occurred in a fight when in pursuit of Indian raiders, on Sabinal Creek, after his ammunition was exhausted. When the fact was discovered he was close to an Indian who was also without ammunition, but both were equally brave, and they rushed at each other with clubbed guns. Those who witnessed the fight say that Mr. Shane was worsted in the fight by a lick on one side of his head which brought him to the ground, and he rolled down the creek bank. Other particulars are forgotten, but Mr. Shane confesses that it was the hardest fight he ever had in his life. In later years he served during the Civil war as a soldier in the Confederate Army, and in that connection he sustained his reputation for courage and fidelity to duty that distinguished his previous career as a worthy citizen on the borders of civilization, but not more honorably than he has since done in private life.

End of Chapter II Beginning VII

Captain Adolph Muenzenberger and myself established the first stage line between the United States and Mexico, in August, 1867, under the firm name of A. Santleben and Company. The corporation was organized on August 1, as a private enterprise, for the purpose of transporting passengers, and incidentally, to convey letters, money, and other packages suitable for the capacity of the stage. The institution was licensed under the general laws of the State of Texas and those of Mexico, but no subsidies were granted, and the business was conducted at the risk and expense of the company. The facts to be given will show that, throughout its continuance, the line was liberally patronized and was highly appreciated by the public because of its great convenience.

"The success of the enterprise was assured beforehand through special privleges granted by the Mexican government which would not, or could not, be allowed under existing laws. The most important of these concessions was an exemption from tariff charges on everything except money, on which a municipal duty of two per cent was collected in Monterey and an export duty of len per cent was exacted by the customs officials at Piedras Negras. During the two years that the line was operated the contents of the coach was never investigated nor was it ever delayed on any occasion by government officials on either side of the Rio Grande. Thomas B. McManus, who was in charge of the United States customshouse in Eagle Pass, and the Mexican customs officials in Piedras Negras, Nicholas Gresanta, and his assistant, Pedro Morales, were all my intimate friends whose personal influence and official powers were exercised in the interest of the line whenever an opportunity

Or stage as a mail carrier was guaranteed the same privileges and protection as those granted the general mail lines in Mexico; but otherwise it had no connection with the postal department, as the right to levy our own postage and collect it in advance, for the company's benefit, was conceded to us. Our company used a metal stamp that was furnished by the Mexican government, on which were the numerals "25" with the words "Republica Mexicana" in a circle around them, which the postal department used until stamps were introduced in 1870; but no ac- cal count of our mail transactions was required. The only agree- medical. ment we had with the government stipulated that all letters handled by us might be weighed, and after a payment of twenty-five cents an ounce was exacted, the stamp should be applied once for each ounce. No other government stamp was placed on letters brought by us from Mexico, but it was necessary for all letters sent to the United States to carry stamps of the government, at the rate of five cents for each ounce after crossing the border. Frequently two dollars for postage was paid on one letter, and these carried eight impressions of our stamp, in addition to the United States postage. Messrs. Weber and Werich were one of several firms in Monterey who paid as much or more on letters sent through us to the United States. On many of our trips as much as fifty dollars was realized on mail matter alone, that was collected at points along

Everywhere that a tyrant's heel has ground most brutally, there has sprung up an "underground" movement. And its heart always is a printing press. For the urge that dwells deep in a freedom-loving people to know the truth is hard to kill. In fact it cannot be killed - not even by the best-organized despotism in history.

The many stories of underground presses that have come down through the ages of trial and error by many dictators is an inspiration to the men and women of America's press.

We know that the truth can actually be printed and circulated under the very heel of a tyrant's boot. But a far better way of keeping people informed is through their own free press which operates not in some dark cellar, but on main street, right next door to the grocer, the postoffice, the drug store. * * To preserve that freedom is the first obligation of the American people and the American Press. It is our only hope of maintaining our other cherished freedoms.

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough. We designed it that way

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest test run of all time . . . with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it carefully from place to place. Instead, we aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

The time limit? Only 58 days. A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this Plymouth crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way up and down across the country . . . passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes . . . creeping through city traffic ... arrowing down super-highways . . . feeling its way through 500 miles of rutted detours. And when the drivers turned the key to end the marathon, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish outand come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourselftoday? You'll see what we mean.

That's the Plymouth "track" . . . and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, builtin stamina!

He carries only a dollar or two in his pocket; but he'll return home with the coat. In the course of her day, an unexpected C.O.D. package arrives at the front door. She hasn't the right change; but the delivery man departs with his mission completed. This scenario, with variations, takes

FLIGHT PITCH DYNAFLOW* - last word in travel with your wheels on the ground

Maybe you've felt smooth transmissions before. Maybe you've had obedient response before.

But take it from us - you have never in all your born days known anything like this Buick's Flight Pitch Dynaflow!

Thanks to a new infinite-pitch stator, you get the most efficient ratio of engine power to rear-wheel turning on the American scene today.

The result: an exuberant feeling of aliveness — a new sense of command unlike anything you've known before.

But there's far more than brilliant performance in this '58 Buick. It embodies more aircraft principles than any other car yet built. It carries a new excitement in styling—a joyous new comfort in travel-a new nimbleness to handling-and the solid satisfaction of a new standard of Buick quality.

Want to hear more? See more? Do more?

Drop in and guest-drive the glamorous B-58 Buick today.

"I'LL SEE YOU TONIGHT!" He goes off to his job; she turns to her household tasks. In the course of his day, he passes a store window displaying "on sale" just the topcoat he has been needing. He carries only a dollar or two in his pocket; but he'll return home with the coat. In the course of her day, an unexpected C.O.D. package arrives at the front door. She hasn't the right change; but the delivery man departs with his mission completed. This scenario, with variations, takes place dozens of times each day in our community. The leading 'player" is always the same. It's the bank, which provides the checking service that offers so much convenience. Why not full measure for your familywith another checking account for your spouse, or a joint account for you both, at our bank?

"THE SPIRIT OF '76." We chanced to see a reproduction of that familiar and beloved painting the other day. How inspiring to see those heroes marching forward together with a common purpose! It struck us that, today, much the same sort of spirit typifies our community and accounts for its growing prosperity. We are proud to join our neighbors, all dedicated to community progress . . . in "the spirit of '57"!

FLIGHT PITCH DYNAFLOW* - last word in travel with your wheels on the ground

Maybe you've felt smooth transmissions before. Maybe you've had obedient response before.

But take it from us - you have never in all your born days known anything like this Buick's Flight Pitch Dynaflow!
